

Fancy Feet Dance Studio

Work/Study Scholarship Program

Fancy Feet is now accepting written requests for an application to receive financial aid for the 2010-2011 dance year.

Fancy Feet Dance Studio is reaching out to our community of family and friends to help support our Work/Study Scholarship students for the fall session 2010-2011. This program is entering its 5th year, and was created for dancers to train at Fancy Feet and receive some financial aid, while contributing time as an assistant in the classroom, and/or in office administration.

This program has become critical in assisting some of our most talented and ambitious young students achieve their real potential. Their individual circumstances often leave them unable to afford the maximum number of classes which would best develop their technique.

With increasing costs, economic changes, and growing families of our own, it has become impossible for the Fancy Feet Staff to underwrite these students completely on our own.

The students we wish to support not only demonstrate great potential as dancers, teachers and/or choreographers, but they are also incredible role-models for other students. They often take the most classes, and participate on every level. Dance is their priority for many reasons. Fancy Feet provides them a safe and nurturing environment in which to create and develop. These dancers often call the studio their "home away from home."

Emily Kay Tillman, along with the Fancy Feet Staff, ask for your help to enable these students to receive the training they need in order to reach their fullest potential. We will select the students at the start of the dance year, once we evaluate the need.

I would like to thank you for any contribution you are able to make, and would like to recognize those who help support this program in various publications. Thank you so much for your support!
